Virginia's exhibit in the Virginia build-ing is a portrait of Doctor Edwin Aldernan, who has recently been elected pres man, who has recently been elected president of the university. Doctor Alderman is the first and only president of the university, and his election was contrary to one of the provisions upon which Thomas Jefferson founded the institution, that there should be no executive head. Jefferson's idea was that there should only be a chairman of the faculty, selected from one of their number, but the growth of the university has been so steady and so great that it was found necessary to have a president. Doctor Alderman was formerly president of Tulane University of New Orleans, La.

Doctor W. A. Lambeth of the University of Virginia, who was a guest at the State building last week, has departed. Doctor Lambeth is one of the vice presidents of the intercollegiate athletic association, and is considered one of the binkest au-thorities in America on college athletics.

MISSOURI WEEK AT WORLD'S FAIR

Governor Dockery Requests People of State to Attend Greatess of Expositions August 22-27.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 6.-Governor Dockery to-day gave out the following statement relative to Missouri Week at the World's Pair, beginning August 21:

"The management of the Louislans Purchase Exposition Company having set apart the week of August 21 as 'Missouri Week at the World's Fair,' I earnestly express the desire that the people of the State heartily co-operate to make the attendance of the week the greatest of the Exposition. 'te soult' "Exceptionally low transportation rates have been secured for the entire time. It is unnecessary to commend the showing made both by the Exposition Company and by our own great State. They speak for themselves. The Exposition in its scope and magnificence is without precedent in all history.

"I therefore renew the request for a great attendance of Missourians during the time set apart as 'Missouri Week.' " BOHEMIAN DAY AT FAIR

WAS GENEROUSLY OBSERVED Aroused the Enthusiasm of All

at Festival Hall,

Fully 2000 persons attended the Bohemian Day exercises yesterday afternoon in Festival Hall. The stage was filled by the Exposition Symphony Orchestra of eighty musicians and a mixed chorus of sixty singing, Bohemian and English. Addresses were delivered in both languages; a talk in English on "The Bohemian in America," by Professor Simek, of Iowa City, Ia., and a greeting in Bohemian, by Sokol Tume of Moravia. The enthusiasm reached its height over two young Bohemian musicians, Marie Herites of Prague, violinist, and Milada Cerny, a child planist, from Chicago.

Miss Herites was born in Europe, but when an infant moved with her parents to Cleveland, where she attended public school, Her violin has been heard throughout Europe. She played a concert by Dvorak yesterday which the audience cheered.

Dvorak yesterday which the audience cheered.

Bohemian songs were sung by a mixed chorus, led by Professor Kalas of Chicago. An organ concerto was played by Professor Charles Galloway on the great organ and a Bohemian-American hymn, words and music by A. Macek and Jaroslav, both of whom were present, was sung by the entire chorus with orchestral and organ accompaniment.

INTERNATIONAL JURY

Sends Out Printed Blanks to Exhibitors Asking Many Questions.

ISSUED IN DUPLICATE FORM.

Contestants for Awards Must Give in Detail the Value and Nature of the Articles Shown.

Printed blanks for the information of the International Jury of Awards of the World's Fair were yesterday received by the Division of Exhibits, and the work of disseminating them will be taken up immediately. Thousands of the circulars will be issued to the exhibitors of the World's Fair, to be filled out and returned to Secretary McGibbons of the Award Ju-

The blanks will be issued in duplicate. the original being printed on white paper and the duplicate on a deep buff. The printed form covers two sides of an extra long sheet, one side of which is to be filled out by the exhibitor and the other for the use of the jury.

The information to be filed by the exhibitor is exhaustive and minute, and, besides stating the department, group, class, building and station in which his is contained, gives the date when his corporation was established, value of produc tion during the year preceding the Exposiemployed, products utilized in manufacture, quantity value and quality of mature, quantity value and quality of ma-terial consumed in year preceding Fair, size of plant and character and amount of equipment, merits claimed for article ex-hibited, number and character of awards received from former Expositions for like articles of production and names of col-laborators, either foremen or experts, de-serving special recognition for services rendered in the development, growth or execution of the articles exhibited. VALUE OF ARTICLES.

VALUE OF ARTICLES. The exhibitors are also requested to state what is the value of articles as measured by their usefulness, their beneficent influence on mankind in its physical, mental, moral and educational aspects; what special facilities have been provided, in the factory or otherwise, for the promotion of the health, morals and education of the workmen, and whether articles are manufactured and sold with reference to their superior quality or particularly to their superior quality or particularly to their cheapness for general consumption.

Then follow the names of the exhibitors and officers of the company exhibiting, location of factory or place of production and a concise description of the articles exhibited.

On the reverse side are the findings ofthe Jury, certified to by the chairmen of the International Jury and the department Jury, the president and secretary of the Superior Jury, the Chief of the respective department and the Director of Exhibits.

The formal inauguration of the work of what is the value of articles as measured spective department and the Director of Exhibits.

The formal inauguration of the work of judging exhibits for awards will begin not later than the first of next month, which is the time set by the rules and regulations, and to last not later than twenty days after. This will be taken up by the group juries which are a part of the International Jury.

The other two graded juries forming the international body are the department juries and a superior jury. The total number of jurors in the International Jury will be about 2 per cent of the total number of exhibitors. Each nation having fifty or more exhibitors will have representation on the jury, and the number of jurors for each art and industry and for each nationality represented, will, as far as practicable, be proportional to the number of exhibitors and the importance of the exhibits.
